

WINDOWS

Buildings in the Bondi Beachfront Area have a rich variety of window types, which reflects the resort character of the area.

Much building in the area is at an urban scale with use of details appropriate to the larger scale. Externally, the architecture of the area and the corresponding window type varies from Victorian, through various Interwar styles including Art Deco and Spanish Mission to the faceless expression of four storey walk-ups and developer modern.

Windows reveal extraordinary inventiveness and variation of size, shape and detail. In addition to the variety of types and styles of standard windows, there are numerous types of bay windows, which provide greater access to views and sunlight. The continued use of windows that enrich and enliven the facades of buildings in the core area is desirable. It should be noted that the range of windows illustrated is by no means exhaustive.
